ACG Celebrates Its Exceptional Members

Six recipients were presented with Meritorious Service awards.

May 21, 2018: CHICAGO –The Association for Corporate Growth® recently presented six of its members for their exceptional leadership and longtime contributions toward the advancement of the organization with its Meritorious Service award.

ACG, a global organization focused on driving middle-market growth, recognized the recipients at its recent InterGrowth® conference in San Diego. Meritorious Service awardees are nominated by their peers for their distinguished volunteer service and leadership within the association.

“Every organization knows that the dedication of its volunteers is the truest measure of its value and success,” said J.B. Dollison, chairman of the ACG Global board of directors. “ACG is no exception. This year’s award recipients are natural leaders who have generously given thousands of volunteer hours. It’s our honor and privilege to recognize them.”

2018 ACG Meritorious Award recipients:

Sally Glick

ACG New Jersey

Sally Glick heads up ACG New Jersey. For the last four years serving as chapter president, she encouraged dozens of new members to join and lead committees, revamped the sponsorship program, and worked closely on the chapter’s signature annual event, the Corporate Growth Conference and Awards. Glick is a principal at the firm Sobel & Co, LLC, where she is responsible for the development and implementation of the firm’s branding, marketing communications and business development strategies.

Jeremy Harrison

ACG U.K.

Jeremy Harrison currently serves ACG in an array of leadership roles. He first joined ACG’s ranks in 2007 while living in the United States. When Harrison returned to the U.K in 2011, he spearheaded the re-launch of the ACG U.K. chapter. In 2017, Jeremy chaired ACG’s EuroGrowth conference, and secured engaging speakers, crafted contemporary content and drove outstanding attendance. He is a regional group head and senior vice president at Bank of America Business Capital.

Paul Kleinkauf
ACG Atlanta

Over the last decade, Paul Kleinkauf wore many hats with ACG. At the ACG national and local levels, he served as a board member and a significant sponsor, and focused his work on young professional engagement. Kleinkauf established the Corporate Development Roundtable in ACG Atlanta. In addition, he helped found the ACG Cup program, a case study competition for MBA students. Paul is a regional director at Merrill Corporation.

Colt Luedde
ACG Houston

Colt Luedde joined ACG Houston 16 years ago and is a past president of the chapter. He was instrumental in the inaugural Texas ACG Capital Connection, lending his invaluable insight into the event's structure and content. While on the ACG Houston board of directors, he served as programming chair and secured many highly coveted speakers. Luedde is a managing director at GulfStaf Group where he has completed and advised on more than 100 merger and acquisition transactions.

Karen Tuleta
ACG Cleveland

Karen Tuleta serves on the ACG InterGrowth Task Force Committee and previously served as a member of both the ACG Cleveland and ACG Global boards. She is well respected for her ongoing commitment to the career advancement of women and continues to serve as a mentor to many women in the dealmaking community. Tuleta is a partner with MPE Partners, which she joined in 1995. She serves on all transaction deal teams and works closely with the firm's portfolio companies to help drive their growth.

Ward V.S. Cerny
ACG Denver

Ward Cerny is a past president and a longtime board member for ACG Denver. His enthusiasm and leadership contributed to the success of the chapter's Rocky Mountain Growth Conferences and the attraction of new members. His volunteer experience also extends to an array of chapter committees. Cerny is a vice president at Alliance Bernstein where he advises individuals and institutions on investment strategies.

“Our awardees illustrate the breadth and depth of the global middle-market community,” said Dollison. “We are bankers, mentors, investors, marketers and more. Their investment in ACG helps us tell the story of how everyday middle-market companies drive growth in economies here and abroad.”

About the Association for Corporate Growth: Founded in 1954, ACG has 59 chapters across the globe. ACG's worldwide network comprises 90,000 professionals within the middle market, including 14,500 members who serve as the investors, lenders, owners, executives, and advisers to growing middle-market companies. ACG's mission is to drive middle-market growth. For more information about ACG, please visit acg.org.
